

SPARTAN Statistics

EQUESTRIAN

Last weekend at the Deschutes County Fairgrounds in Redmond, the Marist Equestrian competed in the state meet. Their team set a state record and outperformed all expectations, surviving the current horse flu going around.

PETANQUE

In University Park last week, the Petanque team finished 2nd in the district at the end of year meet.

SOFTBALL

Softball fell 3-4 in 8 innings Wednesday in Happy Valley against Sandy High School, being eliminated in the 2nd round of the 5A playoffs.

BOYS TENNIS

Sophomore Neu Nipatasaj made it to the 5A state singles finals Saturday before falling 6-0, 6-1 and finishing 2nd.

GIRLS TENNIS

Sophomore Lauren Sibole and freshman Madison Penn made it all the way to the quarterfinals before losing 4-6, 6-0, 6-2 to a pair from Bend.

TRACK & FIELD

Last Saturday at Hayward Field, junior Taylor Walcott won the 100 and was 2nd in the 200 for 5A state. Freshman Liam Henshaw was 8th in the long jump. Representing the girls team, junior Amanda Robert finished 5th in the triple jump, 7th in the long jump, and also competed in the high jump. The boys 4x100 relay placed 2nd and their 4x400 team finished 10th.

Senior Nyree White. Photo by Ray Ferrari.

Sophomore Lauren Sibole, coach Court Braughton, and freshman Madison Penn. Photo courtesy of Andrea Penn.

Junior Taylor Walcott. Photo by Audrey Hart.

PASSIONATE PERFORMANCES

Marist music teacher Jim Reinking rocks out to an exciting triple snare drum trio with freshmen students Emma Kincaid and Lucas Mirabella. Photo by Toni Cooper.

Marist honors senior band members as musicians perform their final concerts of the school year

By Helen Kwak

This Wednesday and Thursday at the Bob Devereaux Theatre, Marist's music groups passionately performed their spring programs.

On Wednesday night, the strings quartet, jazz band, and concert choir took the audience to faraway places and different decades with arrangements of the Disney movies Aladdin and the Chronicles of Narnia along with a medley of music from the infamous Woodstock Festival.

Audiences found themselves clapping along to the catchy beats produced by the jazz band, and older audience members found themselves smiling upon hearing the reminiscent songs from Woodstock.

On Thursday night, Malicious Mango, the school's rock band, wowed the audience with songs from iconic artists like Coldplay, Adele, and U2.

For their final show, seniors got to choose the songs they wanted to perform. Counselor Jerry Ragan and Marist Arts Director Tony Rust sang with Malicious Mango as well.

"It was awesome. They sounded really good this year, and the audience totally digs it," said Rust.

Awesome Hablarama

Junior Andrew Stewart celebrates a frame at the Spanish bowling party. Photo by Ali Thoreson

By Ali Thoreson

Tuesday, 36 Spanish-speaking students met at Strike City bowling alley to play a game of "boliche sin ingles."

Seven parents volunteered to be the police that put students in the penalty box for speaking English, where their punishment was to write an apology letter in Spanish.

Third year Spanish teacher Debbie Cullen and her students used this fundraiser to gather money for their class auction and for Project Starfish.

The students raised $415 for the auction and $125 for project starfish so far.

Giving It All

Junior Emilee Chapman waits for her blood to be drawn. Photo by Morgan Silver

By Michael Busse

On Monday, students and staff visited the Lane Memorial Blood Bank's Blood Mobile, which was parked outside the Activity Center for Marist's second blood drive of the year.

After being screened for minimum health requirements, 52 people were able to give blood.

Though juniors and seniors traditionally are allowed to give blood, sophomores were also accepted this year due to the unexpected absence of the senior class on Monday.

"I did it to prove that I could. I want to give again next year." said junior Amy Miller.

Miller, a first-time donor, served as a student organizer with juniors Macaela Crowley and Joe Jackson.

NHS Awards

Senior Katie Kline accepts a scholarship from Selco Community Credit Union. Photo by McKenzie O'Leary

By Katie Meyers

On Wednesday, May 25 Marist held their annual NHS Awards Assembly in the gymnasium to honor the 82 members of National Honors Society.

The assembly acknowledged Marist students for their academics and outstanding achievements by grade level and class ranking in the different subjects taught at Marist.

Few seniors were also granted scholarships in result of their hard work.

Photo by Audrey Hart.

Carl's Junior Fundraiser

By Nolan Cogan

On Thursday, Marist MVP and Carl's Jr. worked together to put on an annual Project Starfish fundraiser by providing students with an opportunity to buy a tasty and inexpensive lunch.

Students lined up around the courtyard to get their burgers, while helping raise money for the noble cause. This year, Marist students and staff raised $815.75 that will go to helping needy families in Lane County.

Photo by Toni Cooper

Senior Skip Day

By Rachel Ashworth

Despite the Marist's rule of detention for unexcused absences, the Class of 2011 kept the tradition of Senior Skip Day alive this past Monday. The senior classes bickered over a few weeks trying to find the perfect day to pull off that which only seniors can get away with, a whole day to do anything that they want.

While most of the seniors got together to eat French toast at the Dibos household in the morning and then going out to the lake to hang, a small group of seniors came to school willingly or unwillingly. Those who came to school caught up on homework and had a waffle party in Mr. Fox's room.