

ANNUAL MARIST BLOOD DRIVE

Friday, March 3

Hosted by National Honor Society in the Activity Center
Find senior Maya Dotson to sign up!

Spring Around the Corner

A flower bud blooms in the courtyard on campus. Photo by Teresa Molina-Gomez.

How 'Bout That Airline Food?

By Austin Robbins

This past Wednesday, the sixth Brown Bag Lunch of the year was held to inform students about multiple careers in the airline industry. Marist grad Brendan O'Donnell, an Alaskan Airlines pilot, Marist parent Steve Weilbrenner, a Delta Airlines pilot, and past Marist parent, Adele Carter-Iaquinta, a flight attendant, enlightened over a dozen students about the basics of their jobs ranging from their schedules, how to get into flight industry programs, and the benefits of being a long-time pilot.

MARIST SHOWCASES TALENT

Senior Grace Rosier (right) and her sister Sarah win the Talent Show with a violin and cello duet. Photo by Jackie McQuaid

Freshman Lauren Englet performs "Scars to Your Beautiful" at the piano during the Talent Show. Photo by Toni Cooper

The Talent Show participants receive applause. Photo by Megan Kimball

Senior Zach Cogswell roller skates to "Blue Suede Shoes" dressed as Elvis. Photo by Max Fulton

Marist students perform a variety of acts in the annual Talent Show

By Livia Kokkino

Marist has got talent! Marist students, parents, and teachers gathered in the main gym on Thursday afternoon for the annual Talent Show where students were given a chance to showcase their different talents.

The different acts were judged by literature teachers Becky Boyd and Sarah Reed, health teacher Chase Wells, math teacher Grant Gilchrist, and senior counselor Court Wirth.

As the judges tallied up the points, the senior boys on the Mr. Spartan team performed a dance routine to get students excited about the pageant, which will be the evening of Saturday Apr. 8.

Senior Grace Rosier and her younger sister Sarah got 1st place for their violin and cello duo, senior Zach Cogswell got 2nd place for his roller skating routine to Elvis' "Blue Suede Shoes," and freshman Lauren Englet got 3rd place for her singing performance of Alessia Cara's "Scars to Your Beautiful" while playing the piano.

Marist Assistant Principal Gets "Nerd Certified"

By Maya Dotson

Assistant Principal Andy Oldham poses with an iPad. Photo by Madi Potter

Assistant Principal of Academic Affairs Andrew Oldham traveled to San Jose, California several weeks ago to become an Apple Certified Learning Specialist. This training focused on how Apple technology can be utilized to its fullest potential in education.

"A lot of it was looking at apps," Oldham said. The training explored the different applications on the iPad that will be helpful to students, beyond the organizational and note-taking tools that students already know well. Looking forward, Oldham hopes that Marist can successfully utilize technology to its highest capacity. "We want to build a support network of students who know how to utilize technology," Oldham said.

Sports UPDATES

BOYS BASKETBALL

Varsity lost 47-59 on Friday at Crater. JV also lost and the freshmen lost 42-43. On Tuesday, varsity lost at Churchill 47-58. JV won and the freshmen lost 25-50. The boys celebrate Senior Night tonight at home at 7 p.m.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Varsity lost 30-35 at Crater on Friday and JV lost as well. On Tuesday, varsity beat Churchill 41-35 and JV lost 33-48. The girls celebrate Senior Night tonight at home at 5:30 p.m.

YES Bake Sale

Freshman Amanda Jewett and seniors Emily Jewett, Jack Lund, Madeleine Shojai, and Angela Agnew at the Youth Ending Slavery, or YES, Club bake sale table outside the cafeteria on Wednesday. The bake sale made $119.80 to go towards raising awareness about human trafficking in the Eugene-Springfield community. Photo by Gloria Wang

Swim Team Brings Home the Metal

By Ian Skaggs

It was a record setting performance on Saturday as the girls 400 free relay team set a new school record with a time of 3:41.08 and a 3rd place finish. The girls placed 5th or higher in all three relays en route to a 5th place finish at the 5A OSAA State Meet.

Nine swimmers made their way to the meet at Mt. Hood Aquatics. Two boys and seven girls competed, and placed highly in their respective events. Freshman Lauren

Barry and senior Rachel Larsen both participated in four events; two individual, and two relay. Barry placed 2nd in the 100 yard breast and 4th in the 50 yard free, and was the team's leading point scorer. Larsen finished 3rd in the 100 free and 6th in the 200 free. Senior Ben Thompson finished 2nd in the 100 yard breast, and scored 5 points for the boys team. The Marist swim team has a lot to be proud of for their great season.

Freshman Aubrey Ellison, senior Brittan Silver, junior Amanda Allender, and freshman Lauren Barry receive their 4th place award for their 200 medley relay at the state tournament. Photo by Tia Berg