

FUN WITH MUN

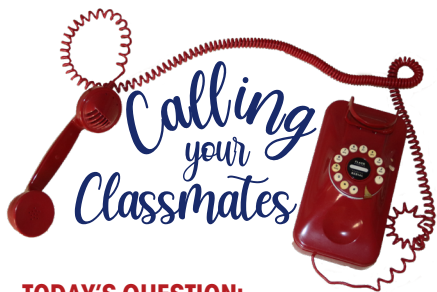

Marist Model UN team at work. Photo by Jon Nixoll
By Asher Pellegrini

On April 11-13, the Marist Model United Nations Club participated in the 2024 Oregon MUN at the University of Oregon, where students represented Finland and Sweden in a simulation of the UN to pass resolutions on different world issues, such as security, human rights, or the environment.

Each year, about 1,500 delegates arrive at the conference in Eugene. "It's really fun meeting people from different schools, like Cade Cunningham from Jesuit," sophomore Model UN member Declan Pellegrini said.

Due to the size of the Marist Model UN, students represented two countries and each country had about nine members that broke into separate and unique committees. Within the global security committee, for example, Marist sophomores Jaxen Mazur and Jackson Skinner passed a resolution which stated "outlining the feasibility and effectiveness of utilizing trained crocodiles in combat operations."

TODAY'S QUESTION:
IF YOU HAD A CATCH PHRASE
WHAT WOULD IT BE?

Charlie Westover

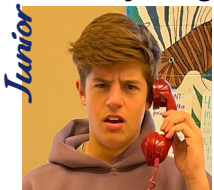

"Jesus take the wheel."

June Robinson

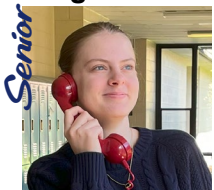

"Never back down, never what?!"

Berkeley Knight-Sheen

"Awooga!"

Abigail Schombert

"Stay fierce."

MARIST CROWNS FIRST SOLO MS. SPARTAN

Spartan Pageant raises over 20k for babies in NICU

1. Seniors Ava Konrady and Haley Ross lead the group in a dance. Photo by Miranda Hopkins '25 2. Seniors Hailey Trank and Kaylynn Guevara perform an act with their little partner. Photo by Toni Cooper 3. Senior spartan pageant members celebrate Haley Ross' crowning. Photo by Sofia Copley '26

By Rory Yasenchak

Over the last two months, thirteen Marist seniors raised over $20,000 for the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit at Sacred Heart through the Children's Miracle Network. These relentless students were split into teams and tasked with reaching out to the community as well as orchestrating a few fun events to raise as much money as possible for the cause.

The Spartan Pageant itself was the final and main event featuring a creative performance from each of the senior teams. These performances ranged from a serenading melody by Micah Hugo to an exciting and interactive magic show.

Another highlight of the pageant occurred near the end when each senior was walked off stage by their parent(s) as a celebration of all their hard work and dedication to Marist.

Ultimately, senior student and class president Hailey Ross was crowned Ms. Spartan.

Leading up to the pageant, the team organized a series of smaller fundraising events such as a trivia night, a school dance, and an intense student versus staff volleyball game.

Although our seniors did an amazing job, they didn't do it alone. Our Marist community rallied together with a common goal in mind: to make a meaningful difference in the lives of those in need.

SPARTANS CONQUER THE GRECIAN DANCE FLOOR

Benny May crowd-surfing during the dance. Photo by Abigail Schombert '24

2024 Prom Court:
Andrew Forsyth,
Austin Murray,
Benny May,
King Peyton Tyner,
Queen Ava Konrady,
Esha Reddy,
Katherine Hedden
and Sadie Shah.
Photo by Toni Cooper

By Ava Konrady

A Greek Gala-themed Prom was thrown last Saturday at the Ford Alumni Center at the University of Oregon for juniors and seniors with a prop-filled photo booth, fun card games, great music, and a busy dance floor.

The dance was planned and decorated by the juniors on Student Council and created a beautiful space for the festivities.

DJ Drake spun the records and kept people on their feet all night long. "It felt like a perfect last hurrah," senior Claire Saxman said. "Prom was exuberant and I am happy the DJ played some bangers," senior Aiden Hazen said.